

Giving personal Information:

Hello, in this lesson we will be learning about how you can give your personal information to another person in English. When meeting people from other countries or places, you might become friends and might want to exchange your personal information. So let's have a look and see how we might handle this.

Introduction:

Let's recap on how we can introduce ourselves in English.

Hello, how are you?

My name is Oliver.

What about you? What is your name?

Nice to meet you.

Here, we have introduced ourselves and also asked for someone's name.

Please:

When we are asking for something we use the word:

‘Please’

‘Please can I’

‘Please give me’

This is a polite and correct way to ask for information.

Telephone number:

If you want to get in touch with someone after meeting each other, you might want to call the person again.

We can ask for their mobile number or you could provide yours.

How to ask:

Please can I have your number?

What is your mobile phone number?

Please could you provide me with your telephone number? (Formal)

If you are asked:

Yes, my phone number is: 01822 456 908

Remember in English we read a phone number as a number at a time and you can pronounce 0 as either zero or o.

For this number you would read out aloud

0-1-8-2-2-4-5-6-9-0-8.

Now you can give someone your number in English.

Address:

An address is the information you use to show where you live and where people can send mail to you.

If you want to communicate via post with another person you might need to ask for an address or if someone wants to find you.

Addresses include the street number, name of the street, and the apartment or block number.

Addresses also include the city, region, and zip/post code.

How to ask:

Please can I have your address?

Could you provide me with your address? (Formal)

If you are asked:

Yes, my address is:

Name- Write your name on the first line.

Street - Write your street address and apartment number on the second line.

City- Write your city, on the third line.

Region-Write your region on the fourth line.

Post/zip code- write your zip/poste code on the final line.

Each line ends with a comma. (,)

Example:

James Harrington,
22 Sunnyhill Road,
Plymouth,
Devon,
PL20 8b8

E-mail:

If you want to get in touch with someone after meeting each other, you may choose to contact each other via E-mail.

This is a great method of communicating worldwide quickly and for free.

So we can ask for their E-mail or you could provide yours.

How to ask:

Please can have your e-mail address?

What is your e-mail?

Please could you provide me with your e-mail address? (Formal)

As you can see it's just as simple as asking for a phone number.

If you are asked:

Yes, my email is: englishwizzard@abc.com

So when we read out the email as: englishwizzard at a-b-c dot com.

Date of birth:

You may be asked to provide your date of birth. This is the same date as your birthday.

So remember from before the United Kingdom the date is organised as Day, Month, and then Year.

For the days, we use ordinal numbers, then we spell out the month (when using number dates the months are organised 1-12 as in January to December) and then the year is pronounced as we have previously learnt.

Example:

19/07/2009 – nineteenth of July, two thousand and nine.

21/01/1964 - twenty first of January, nineteen sixty six.

Why don't you give it a try with yours?

What is your date of birth?

Day	Month	Year

Thank you:

When you have received the information from someone you can respond with a 'Thankyou'.
This shows that you are happy to receive the information.

Example:

You: Please can I have your number?

Yes, my phone number is: 01822 456 908

You; Thank you!
